Moving From Song Leading to Worship Leading

CINDY KENNY | New Hope West & New Hope Christian College | Eugene, OR

There is a distinct difference between just leading a bunch of songs and leading people in worship. In this breakout, we will explore what it means to truly be a worship leader versus a song leader. We will look at specific things a worship leader can do to keep themselves sensitive to what the Holy Spirit is saying while reaching out to engage the congregation and lead them into times of deep and meaningful worship.

Creativity in Worship

TIM SMITH | Worship Without Borders | Beaverton, OR

Creation is an expression of one of God's most awesome characteristics: His creativity. If God is creative, then His image-bearers have the potential to be creative in all their endeavors! Let's explore the creative possibilities that lie hidden, waiting to be discovered in every worship gathering!

Creating a Culture of Debrief

CINDY KENNY | New Hope West & New Hope Christian College | Eugene, OR

God is worthy of excellence in all that we do, but pursuing excellence can be misunderstood and/or done poorly. We will look at the biblical foundation for excellence in ministry and discover ways in which we can create a positive culture of debrief that will honor God and move our teams forward with constructive feedback.

Small Musical Sadnesses for a Higher Joy

GRANT NORSWORTHY | MoreThanMusicMentor.com | New Zealand

There are some small-yet-significant sacrifices that we – the team given the opportunity to lead our congregation to worship God through song – will need to accept, if it truly is our goal and desire to help them find their own “voice” in worship. If our hope is that rather than just listen to us, they will enter into worship with us, we will need to make some selfless, congregation-serving choices. Initially, we won’t like it – but the return brings a higher joy.

Creating Transformational Moments with little or MUCH

CINDY KENNY | New Hope West & New Hope Christian College | Eugene, OR

Transformational moments are those moments in a service where people experience God in a way that goes beyond words – where something happens in them. In this breakout, we will look at what it means to create those kinds of moments, how to go about building a creative team and how to bring creativity to your service no matter what your budget or personnel is.
